Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The Director, Vermont Service Center (the director), denied the nonimmigrant visa petition, and the matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed and the petition will remain denied.

The petitioner is a citizen of the United States who seeks to classify the beneficiary, a native and citizen of India, as the fiancée of a U.S. citizen pursuant to § 101(a)(15)(K) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(K).

The director denied the nonimmigrant visa petition pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8)(ii), because the petitioner did not submit the required supporting documentation.

Applicable Law

A "fiancé(e)" is defined at Section 101(a)(15)(K) of the Act as:

subject to subsections (d) and (p) of section 214, an alien who -

(i) is the fiancée or fiancé of a citizen of the United States . . . and who seeks to enter the United States solely to conclude a valid marriage with the petitioner within ninety days after admission[.]

Section 214(d)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(d)(1), states in pertinent part that a fiancé(e) petition:

shall be approved only after satisfactory evidence is submitted by the petitioner to establish that the parties have previously met in person within 2 years before the date of filing the petition, have a bona fide intention to marry, and are legally able and actually willing to conclude a valid marriage in the United States within a period of ninety days after the alien's arrival, except that the Secretary of Homeland Security in his discretion may waive the requirement that the parties have previously met in person. . . .

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8)(ii) states that if all required initial evidence is not submitted with the Form I-129F, Petition for Alien Fiancé(e) (Form I-129F) or does not demonstrate eligibility, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) may, in its discretion, deny the petition for lack of initial evidence. The specific requirements for filing Form I-129F, including a description of the required initial evidence, may be found in the Instructions to the Form I-129F.

Factual and Procedural History

The petitioner filed Form I-129F on October 29, 2012, with no accompanying evidence. The director denied the petition, finding that the petitioner had not submitted the required supporting evidence. On appeal, the petitioner submits evidence, including, but not limited to: a letter, photographs, e-mails, his divorce decree, phone bills, money-transfer receipts, bank statements, and proof he traveled to India to meet the beneficiary within the two years preceding filing the instant petition.

Analysis

The petitioner has submitted some, but not all, of the required initial evidence. Although the petitioner has submitted sufficient evidence to show that he and the beneficiary met within the two years preceding the Form I-129 filing date, he did not submit a statement from the beneficiary to establish her intent to marry him within 90 days of her admission into the United States in K-1 status. He also did not submit his own statement showing his intent to marry the beneficiary within 90 days of her admission into the United States; a passport-style photograph of himself and another of the beneficiary; and Forms G-325A, Biographic Information, for the petitioner and beneficiary.

Conclusion

The appeal will be dismissed for the above stated reasons. In fiancée visa petition proceedings, it is the petitioner's burden to establish eligibility for the immigration benefit sought. Section 214(d)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(d)(1); Matter of Otiende, 26 I&N Dec. 127, 128 (BIA 2013). Here, that burden has not been met. As stated at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(k)(2), the denial of this petition is without prejudice to the filing of a new petition.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
