Ron Rosenberg
Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The Director, Vermont Service Center, denied the nonimmigrant visa petition. The matter is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The petitioner is a native and citizen of the United States who seeks to classify the beneficiary, a native and citizen of Haiti, as the fiancée of a United States citizen pursuant to § 101(a)(15)(K) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(15)(K).

The director denied the nonimmigrant visa petition pursuant to 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8)(ii) because the petitioner failed to submit required initial evidence. On appeal, the petitioner submits a statement and additional evidence.

Applicable Law

A "fiancé(e)" is defined at Section 101(a)(15)(K) of the Act as:

subject to subsections (d) and (p) of section 214, an alien who -

(i) is the fiancée or fiancé of a citizen of the United States . . . and who seeks to enter the United States solely to conclude a valid marriage with the petitioner within ninety days after admission[.]

Section 214(d)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(d)(1), states in pertinent part that a fiancé(e) petition:

shall be approved only after satisfactory evidence is submitted by the petitioner to establish that the parties have previously met in person within 2 years before the date of filing the petition, have a bona fide intention to marry, and are legally able and actually willing to conclude a valid marriage in the United States within a period of ninety days after the alien's arrival, except that the Secretary of Homeland Security in [her] discretion may waive the requirement that the parties have previously met in person. . . .

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8)(ii) states that if all required initial evidence is not submitted with the petition or does not demonstrate eligibility, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) may, in its discretion, deny the petition for lack of initial evidence. The specific requirements for filing a Petition for Alien Fiancé(e) (Form I-129F), including a description of the required initial evidence, may be found in the Instructions to the Form I-129F.

The statutory requirement of an in-person meeting between the petitioner and the beneficiary is further explained at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(k)(2), which states, in pertinent part:

The petitioner shall establish to the satisfaction of the director that the petitioner and K-1 beneficiary have met in person within the two years immediately preceding the filing of the petition. As a matter of discretion, the director may exempt the petitioner from this requirement only if it is established that compliance would result in extreme hardship to the petitioner . . . .

The regulation does not define what may constitute extreme hardship to the petitioner. Therefore, each claim of extreme hardship must be judged on a case-by-case basis taking into account the totality of the petitioner's circumstances.

Factual and Procedural History

The petitioner filed the fiancée petition with USCIS on May 30, 2012, without any supporting evidence. For this reason, the director denied the petition on November 27, 2012. On appeal, the petitioner states that the director's denial does not state exactly what evidence is missing from the petition. He also states that he visited the beneficiary in Haiti "in the spring" during her birthday and that he is looking forward to having her join him in the United States. The petitioner also provided eight photocopied undated photographs of himself with the beneficiary, and copies of his U.S. birth certificate, Social Security card, and Pennsylvania driver's license.

Analysis

The petitioner has submitted some, but not all, of the required initial evidence. The record still lacks evidence that the petitioner and the beneficiary met in person between May 30, 2010 and May 30, 2012, which is the two-year period immediately preceding the filing of the petition, or evidence that the petitioner merits a favorable exercise of discretion to exempt him from such requirement pursuant to section 214(d)(1) of the Act and the regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 214.2(k)(2). On appeal, the petitioner states that he visited the beneficiary in Haiti in the spring, but he does not specify the dates of his visit and does not provide corroborating documentation to establish that he met the beneficiary during the two-year period immediately preceding the filing of the petition. The petitioner, moreover, does not provide receipts, film-dated photographs, affidavits from individuals who have personal knowledge of his relationship with the beneficiary, or any other evidence of meeting the beneficiary in the United States, Haiti or a third country during the requisite period.

The record also lacks evidence from the petitioner and the beneficiary of their intent to marry within 90 days of the beneficiary's admission into the United States in K-1 status; one passport-style photograph of the petitioner and one of the beneficiary; and one Form G-325A, Biographic Information, for the petitioner and one for the beneficiary.

The regulation at 8 C.F.R. § 103.2(b)(8)(ii) states that if all required initial evidence is not submitted with the petition or does not demonstrate eligibility, USCIS may, in its discretion, deny the petition for lack of initial evidence. The petitioner did not submit the required documentation, and the beneficiary may not benefit from the instant petition. The petitioner bears the burden of proof in these proceedings.

Conclusion

As the petitioner has not submitted the required initial evidence on appeal, the director's decision to deny the petition shall not be disturbed. In fiancée visa petition proceedings, it is the petitioner's burden to establish eligibility for the immigration benefit sought. Section 214(d)(1) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1184(d)(1); Matter of Otiende, 26 I&N Dec. 127, 128 (BIA 2013). Here, that burden has not been met.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed. The petition remains denied.
