Perry Rhew
Chief, Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The applicant's Temporary Protected Status was withdrawn by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Administrative Appeals Office (AAO) on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a citizen of El Salvador who is seeking Temporary Protected Status (TPS) under section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. § 1254.

The record reveals that the applicant filed a TPS application during the initial registration period on March 22, 2001, under receipt number WAC 01 169 50146. The Director, California Service Center, approved that application on January 20, 2004.

The director may withdraw the status of an alien granted Temporary Protected Status under section 244 of the Act at any time if it is determined that the alien was not in fact eligible at the time such status was granted, or at any time thereafter becomes ineligible for such status. 8.C.F.R. § 244.14(a)(1).

An alien shall not be eligible for temporary protected status under this section if the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security finds that the alien has been convicted of any felony or two or more misdemeanors committed in the United States. See Section 244(c)(2)(B)(i) of the Act and 8 C.F.R. § 244.4(a).

8 C.F.R. § 244.1 defines "felony" and "misdemeanor:"

Felony means a crime committed in the United States, punishable by imprisonment for a term of more than one year, regardless of the term such alien actually served, if any, except: When the offense is defined by the State as a misdemeanor and the sentence actually imposed is one year or less regardless of the term such alien actually served. Under this exception for purposes of section 244 of the Act, the crime shall be treated as a misdemeanor.

Misdemeanor means a crime committed in the United States, either

- (1) Punishable by imprisonment for a term of one year or less, regardless of the term such alien actually served, if any, or
- (2) A crime treated as a misdemeanor under the term "felony" of this section.

For purposes of this definition, any crime punishable by imprisonment for a maximum term of five days or less shall not be considered a misdemeanor. 8 C.F.R. § 244.1.

An alien is inadmissible if he has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude (other than a purely political offense), or if he admits having committed such crime, or if he admits committing an act which constitutes the essential elements of such crime. Section 212(a)(2)(A)(i)(I) of the Act.

The director may withdraw the status of an alien granted Temporary Protected Status under section 244 of the Act at any time if it is determined that the alien was not in fact eligible at the time such status was granted, or at any time thereafter becomes ineligible for such status. 8.C.F.R. § 244.14(a)(1).

The record reveals that on April 20, 2005, the applicant was arrested by the Los Angeles [California] Police Department for six counts of "Forgery." [REDACTED]

Pursuant to a letter dated December 21, 2006, the applicant was requested to submit the final court disposition for each of the charges detailed above. The applicant submitted the requested court documentation. According to the final court disposition, on May 3, 2005, the applicant was convicted of "Forgery," a felony.

The director withdrew temporary protected status because the applicant had been convicted of a felony in the United States.

On appeal, the applicant claims that he was actually convicted of a misdemeanor and was only sentenced to probation. According to the California Penal Code, Forgery is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year. Therefore, the offense can be charged as either a felony or misdemeanor. In this case, the court disposition expressly states the applicant was charged with, and pled guilty to a felony charge of "Forgery." Accordingly, the applicant is ineligible for TPS and the director's decision to withdraw the applicant's status will be affirmed.

While the issue of the applicant's inadmissibility was not raised by the director, the applicant is also ineligible for TPS due to his inadmissibility under Section 212(a)(2)(A)(i)(I) of the Act. The most commonly accepted definition of a crime involving moral turpitude is an act of baseness, vileness or depravity in the private and social duties which a man owes to his fellow men or to society in general, contrary to the accepted and customary rule of right and duty between man and man. Jordan v. De George, 341 U.S. 223, reh'g denied, 341 U.S. 956 (1951). The crime of forgery involves moral turpitude. Animashaun v. INS, 990 F.2d 234 (5th Cir. 1993) Therefore, the applicant is inadmissible because of his felony forgery conviction.

Furthermore, it is noted that the applicant has provided insufficient evidence to establish his qualifying continuous residence since February 13, 2001 and continuous physical presence from March 9, 2001 to the filing date of the TPS application. Therefore, the application must be denied for these reasons as well.

The application will be denied for the above stated reasons, with each considered as an independent and alternative basis for denial. An alien applying for temporary protected status has the burden of proving that he or she meets the requirements enumerated above and is otherwise eligible under the provisions of section 244 of the Act. The applicant has failed to meet this burden.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
